“ Donna was a pit bull. She was tough, she was smart she was tenacious and loving. Donna was my cousin. Our mothers were sisters so we were together a lot. I remember the day her dad died, when her brother died, the happier days like the day she got married.

We were all supposed to get together in Pennsylvania at my sisters, but she got sick so we never did. Donna didn't have it easy, but she never complained she persevered thru everything and she smiled while she did it, she was not a bragger although she achieved much. She was a wonderful person who did not deserve that terrible illness. She will be missed.

“ Anyone lucky enough to know or even meet my mother is well aware of her consistent love of and devotion to family.

Family - this word means more to me today than ever before.

Small in stature yet larger than life, Mom always made you feel like you were home. It didn't matter where your travels took you in life; across the sea, serving our country, or starting our own families. We always knew we could come home, because she made it that way. A door that was always open, an ear to listen, or a kind word of advice when it seemed the world had gone too crazy to handle - these are things I will miss the most.

As her children, we have had the privilege to not only be raised by an unwavering, indomitable woman, but we also have had the opportunity to watch her grow throughout her life.

As a mother, she instilled honesty and caring into her children. The example she set of accepting and helping anyone and everyone has, in no small part, formed me into the man I am today, and, like my sisters, these are the values we are instilling into our own children. Without her, I don't think I would or could be the father and husband I am today.

I know you'll still be keeping your eye on us, Mom. Rest easy now knowing that the lessons of life and love you taught us are what will carry us through, and because of that and so much more, you will be with us forever.

Mom was so much to so many. Some knew her as wife, Mom or Nana. Countless others knew her as professor, confidante or simply friend. Regardless of how you knew her, I am sure that, like me, your life was just that much better simply because she was in it. In my opinion, that is the greatest gift she ever gave to any of us.

“ I never met Donna but I felt her powerful message of life and her love for her family and all those around her through facebook. Sounds strange but I feel like I really DID know her and, humbly I say, I think she counted me as a friend. God bless you and keep you, Donna. Until we meet again in heaven.

“ An amazing mom, mother-in-law, and Nana to my girls who will be terribly missed. Not a day went by that mom and I didn't talk, chat or share a silly meme. She knew how to make you laugh, no matter how you were feeling. She inspired both of my girls to grow into amazing young women. Mom has left a mark on all of our hearts. We love you and will miss you.

“ I've known Donna for years. We met often for coffee at our favorite place -- Starbucks in Troy -- sometimes on the spur of the moment, where we would chat and laugh for hours on end. She was my crochet and book buddy, my confidante, and my best friend. Tough as nails, she had a soft exterior that she let few people see. She was one of the funniest people I've ever known, saying outlandish things in the no nonsense, straightforward manner she delighted in. I can hear her up in Heaven now, giving St. Peter a piece of her mind and yelling down to us mere mortals on earth, "Come on, people. You're allowed to be sad, but enough with the crying already!" After all this virus business is over and I can resume the message circle I sometimes attend on Friday nights for fun, I hope you will send me a message. I can see your headstone across the street from my house -- we had a few laughs about that -- and will visit you often. Goodbye, my friend. I miss you!!

Love, Star xx

P.S. Love to Drew, et al too

It's funny how a separation by miles can bring people closer together. Donna and I are cousins through marriage I remember her I only saw her at family gatherings an I do remember her smile an always talking with someone. We became closer through Facebook with our posts going back-and-forth with each other. She truly was a loving person to her family an friends. Always positive even with that lousy cancer that took a lovely soul she will be missed that's for sure rest in peace Donna, you will be missed. 🙏❤️

“ Donna and I met at MAC about 8 years ago. I was always amazed by her talents and strength. We would meet for lunch long after our time there ended. Her personality was one that brought chuckles to others and herself. On one of our outings we were to meet for lunch at Ruby Tuesday's in Latham. As I waited for her, I wondered where she was,, (she was late). This was unlike her. Next thing I know she pulled into the parking lot and raced into the restaurant in fast mode. When she saw me she began laughing.. she went to Carabbas by mistake,sat down, ordered a Diet Coke and awaited my arrival. After 20 minutes it dawned on her, she was at the wrong place.she left money on the table for her drink and quickly disappeared. We each had a good laugh and like always a enjoyable time together. RIP my friend you will be missed. My condolences to her family.

I remember the good times when our kids were in St Mary's. After you moved to Cropseyville, I would think of you as I drove past your house. Rest in peace friend
