“ Jason and I dated briefly not long before he passed. While our encounter was short lived, Jason left a lasting impression on me and it is with deep sorrow that I write this note.

A dorky fan of Star Wars, a protective uncle, brother and son, Jason was a character that I'll never forget and think of often. I remember nights that while Jason was resting his eyes for the night, his brain wouldn't follow suit and I was witness many hysterical sleep talking experiences that left my stomach in knots and face wet with tears. Jason always made me laugh and had quite the sense of humor, one that will be engraved into my memory for life.

Jason was a Navy Seal and was proud of his accomplishments in that field, so much so that we spent many of our encounters talking about those days. He missed those times greatly and a few times talked about going back.

Rest in peace Jason and may you always find the light at the end of the tunnel no matter how high the obstacles or how deep the trenches.
