“ I met Shannon years ago online. We chatted on message boards and played games on Xbox Live together. He was always very nice and I enjoyed my talks with him. I noticed that he hadn't responded to messages recently, and today being his birthday I tried to wish him a happy birthday. After no response, I googled him and was incredibly saddened to discover his passing. My condolences to Shannon's parents, who he loved very much. I'm so sorry you have lost your son, and I've lost a friend.
